

I strongly oppose your ruling which changes the nature of the availability of a free communications network in the United States. You have acted unreasonably, unfairly, arbitrarily and in a frighteningly Orwellian manner.

Republicans often speak of the fact that they trust the American people to do the right thing. How can we do the right thing if we have a news media which is slanted and limited, reducing the likelihood that we will get the full story? How can we do the right thing if groups such as yourselves continually do the wrong thing?

I commend the work of Commissioners Adelstein and Copps and thank them from the bottom of my heart.
